AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DIXIE.

Another one of those big hits of swell bills for the Dixie next week. Monday afternoon—A grand two-reel Lubin, "The House of the O'Learys," with an all-star cast. Broncho Billy and beautiful Marguerite Clayton. The famous Richard Travers in a grand feature, "The Butler." Monday night—Alice Hollister, the famous vampire of the screen, in a swell two-reel feature, "Her Bitter Lesson." Beautiful Isabel Rea in "Her Mother's Way," with William Duncan and Al Vosburgh in "Everything Against Him." Don't miss these swell Monday bills.

Tuesday afternoon—Handsome Tom Moore and cute little Marguerite Clayton in a Kalem two-reel beauty, "The Prodigal." The famous Sidney Drew and Jane Morrison in a Vitagraph comedy drama. Tuesday night—James Morrison, Dorothy Kelly and George Cooper in a Vitagraph feature, "Saved from a Life of Crime." Irene Hawley in "Little Miss Make Believe," a Kalem. Also one of those splendid George Ade fables.

Wednesday afternoon—The next and third of the grand series, "The Beloved Adventurer," in a thousand feet of real interest, with the famous Arthur Johnson, Florence Hackett and Roth Ryan in "An Affair of Honor." Also the Selig war news. Wednesday night—"An Affair of Honor" will be run in addition to the regular program with one of those sensational wild animal Selig dramas. Handsome Leo Deaney, William Humphrey and beautiful Leah Baird in "The Man That Might Have Been."

Thursday afternoon—One of those Edison features, "Who Goes There?" Thursday night—"The Place, the Time and the Man." Richard Travers, Gerda Holmes and Bryant Washburn featured. One of the swell two-reel Lubins, "The Grip of the Past."

Friday afternoon—John Bunny and Flora Finch in a Vitagraph two-reel comedy. Friday night—One of those swell two-reel Biographs with Louise Vale and Allen Hale.

Saturday afternoon—Dimpled Lilian Walker in "The Methods of Margaret." Helen Holmes in "The Stolen Engine." Saturday night—Bessie Eytton and Thomas Santchi in "Playing With Fire," a two-reel Selig. Beautiful Ormi Hawley in "A Believer in Dreams."

Extra good pictures afternoon and night next week.

Don't miss tonight's extra good bill. Norma Talmore, Donald Hall, Bobby Connelly, Paul Kelly, Elsie Gleason, Helen Holmes, Charles West and others.

See "The Blue Flame," a two-reel feature, tonight.

AT THE QUEEN.

Tonight—One of the biggest and best features ever shown in Bryan. "My Official Wife," a swell Broadway all-star attraction in five thousand feet of sensations and wonders. A thriller from start to finish with Clara Kimball Young, Earl Williams, Harry Moray, Rose Tapley and Roger Lytton. Now, don't miss this big one tonight. Admission, 20c.

Thursday—The nineteenth number of "The Perils of Pauline," and it's a dandy, too. Remember there are only two more numbers of "The Perils of Pauline." Next Thursday number nineteen and in two weeks number twenty, being the end of the series. Don't miss these two last ones. They are the best of the series.

Next Saturday—"The Plum Tree," with Bushman and Beverly Bayne. See "My Official Wife" tonight.

Coleman—The construction of a gas plant here is being planned by a Galveston man and the matter has been given every encouragement possible by the local Chamber of Commerce. The promoter of the project has recently completed a plant at Santa Anna and he proposes to extend the pipe line on into this city at once and commence work on his plant here. The supply of gas originates at the Trickham fields.

Dallas—Orders from the warring Nations continue to pour into Texas and a local concern has recently closed a contract with a belligerent country for leather pistol and bayonet scabbards for more than 100,000 men. In addition to bringing a large sum of money into this city, the deal will afford employment to several workmen for some time.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS Christmas Fund

"The meek also shall increase their joy in the Lord, and the poor among men shall rejoice in the Holy One of Israel."

This fund shall be used to carry joy, happiness and comfort to those in our midst upon whom the hand of adversity has borne heavily, and your subscription hereto will make some heart glad on Christmas morning.

Within the bounds of our city there are women and children to whom Christmas will be only a day, to whom joy will be only a name, unless we stretch forth to them the hand of brotherly love, and do for them what our Lord would have us do.

There are widows who are penniless, there are children who know not of a father's love, there are those who are sick, and there, too, are those who suffer because men do not care. Good friends, we will send personal messengers to learn of the wants of all of whom we hear, and on the glad Christmas morn our messengers will again go forth and carry material things to strengthen their lives, and we will carry greetings and love from you to gladden their souls, and that they may know that for them, too, a Saviour was born.

We solicit subscriptions from you and yours, from lodges, societies and all, and we ask that you advise our committee of anyone you know to whom we may extend this charity.

Every member of our order is personally interested in this work and will lend their services and support to the accomplishment of the same, all work to be under the direction of the following committee: W. S. Wilson Jr., chairman, John A. Moore, George E. Hadley, Joe T. Maloney and H. A. Burger.

Friends, join us in this work. We will endeavor to be faithful in our service.

COTTONSEED HULLS NOT UNDER PURE FEED LAWS

Statement From B. Youngblood, Director of Experiment Stations.

With reference to the ruling of the Attorney General that cottonseed hulls are not subject to tax and tagging under the State pure feed laws, B. Youngblood, director of experiment stations, and who is in charge of the administration of these laws, today gave out the following statement: "On October 12, 1914, the Attorney General ruled that 'cottonseed hulls come within the meaning of concentrated feeding stuffs' and are therefore subject to tax and should be tagged as provided by the act. In accordance with this ruling I instructed the feed control inspectors to require manufacturers of cottonseed hulls to register their products and furnish tags with sales."

"On October 27, 1914, the Attorney General wrote us asking that we hold the matter in abeyance until he could consider it further. On November 30, 1914, we received the following telegram from the Attorney General, in which he reserves his former ruling upon this subject: 'After mature consideration this department reverses its ruling of October 12, in regard to cottonseed hulls, and now holds that cottonseed hulls are not within the contemplation of the pure feed law, and opinion in extenso will follow as soon as it can be prepared.'"

"In accordance with this second ruling of the Attorney General, I am instructing the feed inspectors that cottonseed hulls need not be registered, taxed or tagged, for the present at least. Money sent in by the firms which so promptly registered on notification of the Attorney General's first ruling will be refunded."

Bridge Party for Mrs. Wignall—

Mrs. Charles Wignall of Port Arthur, who was Miss Adele Raynor of this city and who was married November 11, was tendered a charming social courtesy on last Monday afternoon by Mrs. S. I. Dunn, a former Bryan girl, remembered as Miss Mary Roman.

The affair took the form of a bridge party. The appointments of the game were quite appropriate and featured a bride.

Concluding the serving of an elaborate refreshment course, the honoree was presented a beautiful cut glass vase as a token of the friendship in which she is held by the hostess.

Mrs. E. J. Fountain Compliments

Mrs. R. A. Risser Jr.—

A hospitality of Tuesday afternoon, exceedingly dainty in decoration and appointment, was the "at home" given by Mrs. E. J. Fountain with the Embroidery Club as assistant hostesses. The affair was a charming compliment given honoring the hostess' niece, Mrs. Ralph Risser of Bonham, whose visits to Bryan are always the source of so much pleasure to her friends. At 3 the club members assembled, and busily occupied an hour with their needlework. Many fancy articles were in evidence and deft needles flew while their owners indulged in pleasant chat. The club is thoroughly informal and for that very reason thoroughly delightful. At the hour of 4 the invited guests arrived and received from the hostess that ever gracious and hearty welcome for which she is noted. Mrs. P. S. Park, president of the club, stood with Mrs. Fountain and also gave cordial greetings. In the library the sweet-scented La France roses of a deep pink shade vased in receptacles on mantel and piano received their share of admiration, and amid these pleasant environments stood the honoree, Mrs. Risser. Mesdames W. C. Davis, S. H. Dunlap, S. C. Williams and J. S. Doane, who received the callers very cordially. Magnificent white chrysanthemums held in crystal vases adorned the buffet and cabinets in the dining room, wherein the table was most lovely, overlaid with cluny lace and appointed entirely in silver and crystal. In the center, placed amid fern sprays, was a potted begonia covered with bunches of white waxen blossoms. Tea and coffee were poured from the table by Mesdames J. M. Lawrence and A. W. Wilkerson. Sandwiches, nuts and mints were passed by Mesdames H. A. Burger and George Adams. The glow from the chandeliers throughout the reception suite threw a soft glow over the scene. No pleasure of the afternoon was more delightful than the meeting of the honoree, who as Miss Irene Keeling was a member of this pleasant club.

With Miss Grace Weaver—
With Miss Grace Weaver as hostess, six of her girl friends gathered at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Weaver, on Friday afternoon and enjoyed an informal time of pleasure. Chrysanthemums and ferns trimmed the handsome home attractively and music and games formed diversions. The guests found great pleasure in making and pulling candy. After the pleasures of the afternoon, hot chocolate with whipped cream, sandwiches and nuts were served by Mrs. Weaver, adding to the sociability of the affair, participated in by Misses Susie Sanders, Vivian Howell, Evelyn Crawford, Salome Hickman, Elizabeth Howell and Seleta Sanders.

Miss Mickman Hostess

to Bachelor Girls—

Pleasant entertainment was given the Bachelor Girls' Club on Monday afternoon at the hospitable home of Mrs. and Mrs. J. M. Gordon with Miss Deolice Hickman as hostess. The attractively furnished rooms of the elegant home were brightened by quantities of flowers of the season and many ferns and potted plants in corners, effectively banked, formed the necessary background for the glowing tints of the autumn blossoms. All present were busily engaged in the making of dainty gifts for the coming Christmas time, and many ideas were changed as to new patterns and designs. The busy time of industry was followed by a time of social converse, during which the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Gordon, served chicken salad, olives, crackers, sandwiches and hot tea.

The club will convene next Wednesday afternoon with Miss Cora Garth at 3 o'clock.
Present as substitutes for the absent club members on this sunny afternoon were Miss Ada Field, Mesdames M. B. Parker, Frank E. Hood, Seth de Maret, Lawrence Parker, T. K. Lawrence and G. W. Smith Jr.

Mrs. Allen Smith Gave Farewell Party to Mrs. J. N. Thomas—

An evidence of friendship and sincere regret felt at the departure of Mrs. J. N. Thomas was the farewell "at home" given by Mrs. Allen Smith Thursday morning. Fifty guests were present, including the members of the Eastern Star Chapter, of which she was the worthy matron; the ladies of the Christian Church and other friends, who came to bid Mrs. Thomas goodbye. Sadness was mingled with pleasure as each guest expressed her regret at the departure of this cultured Christian woman from their midst.

The home was fairly radiant with exquisite blossoms and suggestions of the holiday season, and during the receiving hours dainty little Misses Kate Parker, Kollie Louise Myers and Frances Smith received the guests at the front door. In the hall pink La France roses fringed great clusters vased on pedestals and cabinets. Lovely white roses and chrysanthemums, held in crystal receptacles, and handsome potted plants seemed especially harmonious in the living room, wherein the hostess, honoree and Mesdames Lizzie Wilcox, Pope and Frank Myers greeted the guests. Mrs. J. H. Allen and Mrs. Guy Bille received the guests in the dining room. The decorations here were exquisitely beautiful, red being the dominant color. Yopon, with its great clusters of crimson berries, was arranged around the plate rail and over the window seat. The polished table, laid with a handsome lace cover, held in the center immense red chrysanthemums arranged in a large crystal bowl. Red tapers in silver candlesticks diffused a soft radiance. Mints and confections filled pretty bonbon dishes, and sandwiches and coffee were served. Mrs. Hudson Myers presided over the silver coffee urn and Misses Alice Burtis and Deolice Hickman served sandwiches.

The interest of the morning naturally centered in the departure of the honoree, whose residence in Bryan has resulted in the formation of a large circle of friends who will miss her keenly. Miss Alice Burtis, in pleasing manner presented to Mrs. Thomas a set of silver salad forks from the Bible class of the Christian Church, bespeaking their high regard for her.

Notes and Personals—

The appended clipping from Huntsville's social notes in the Houston Post will be of interest to Bryan friends of Mrs. Farris, who on visits to her daughter, Mrs. Tyler Haswell, has won esteem from many:

"Mrs. M. D. Farris, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Mamie Wynne Cox in Dallas, was the guest of honor at a beautiful noon luncheon in that city given by the Pen Women and Literary Circle. Mrs. Farris was the recipient of many beautiful flowers, but one splendid bouquet of American Beauty roses was sent by her children, viz.: Mesdames J. R. Lay of Richmond, C. G. Barrett and G. A. Wynne of Huntsville. Mrs. Mamie Wynne Cox of Dallas and Mrs. Tyler Haswell of Bryan."

Mrs. J. M. Gordon left Wednesday for a visit to her parents in San Angelo. She will remain through Christmas and will be joined later by Mr. Gordon for the holidays.

In the notes from Washington society we find mentioned Miss Dorcas Parker of Bryan and Miss Mary B. Johnson of San Angelo among the new students at Gunston Hall, who figured as hostesses to the old girls of the school at a beautiful Thanksgiving dinner.

The name of Miss Ruth Rogers of Bryan appears in the notes from Washington. She assisted Mrs. Ramsey, wife of the principal of Fairmount, as hostess when she entertained with a reception in honor of the sculptor, Larado Taft.

Mrs. W. C. Lawson has returned from a pleasant visit to relatives in Tennessee. Mrs. Lawson was a member of a happy family reunion in honor of her mother's eightieth birthday.

Mrs. Ralph Risser, after a delightful visit to Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Fountain, has returned to her home in Bonham.

Miss Allie Conway, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Evans in Hugo, Okla., is enjoying a round of pleasing social courtesies planned in her honor.

The Embroidery Club will be entertained on next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Mrs. J. S. Doan.
